MEDIA ADVISORY

UNITED WAY RECONGIZES LOYAL CONTRIBUTORS DURING BREAKFAST CELEBRATION

WHO / WHAT

- The United Way of the Chattahoochee Valley will recognize more than 50 donors who have been supporting the United Way for more than two decades during a breakfast celebration. Sam Rawls, president, Knight-Rawls, Inc., will speak during the program.

WHEN / WHERE

- The celebration is 8:30 - 9:30 a.m., Tuesday, April 20, at the Chattahoochee River Club, 1100 Bay Ave., Columbus.

WHY

“People give to United Way not for a thank you, but because they know their gift stays here to help people in need,” said Scott Ferguson, president of the local United Way. “They trust us to do the right thing. That trust is something we never take for granted.”

The United Way of the Chattahoochee Valley improves lives and builds a stronger community by bringing people and resources together. Your United Way has 26 partner agencies and funds 50 programs that serve residents of Chattahoochee, Harris, Marion, Muscogee, Stewart, Talbot and Taylor counties in Georgia and Russell County in Alabama.
